Nur zögernd löst sich das kompositorische Schaffen Joseph Eyblers, vornehmlich durch die Wiederveröffentlichung wichtiger Instrumentalwerke, aus dem Schatten der großen Klassiker. Sein Name blieb bis in die jüngste Zeit einzig in Verbindung mit Mozarts Requiem KV 626 lebendig. Mozarts Kompositionsskizzen in den Händen von Fr. X. Süssmayr mögen ihn veranlaßt haben, die ihm zuerst angetragene Vollendung seinem Mitschüler zu überlassen.

1765 als Sohn eines Lehrers und Chorregenten in Schwechat bei Wien geboren, trat Eybler sechsjährig in das Wiener Stadtseminar ein, der Schule, in welcher auch die Brüder Joseph und Michael Haydn erzogen wurden. Es folgten intensive Studien bei J. G. Albrechtsberger, der ihm 1793 in einem Attest bescheinigen sollte, „ . . . daß er nach Mozart in der Musik jetzt das größte Genie sei, welches Wien besitze“. Eine Feuersbrunst in Schwechat vernichtete 1782 die gesamte Habe der Familie. Das ursprünglich geplante Jurastudium mußte zugunsten des weniger kostspieligen Musikstudiums endgültig aufgegeben werden. Großherzige Unterstützung fand er in der Folge durch seinen Lehrer und Freund Joseph Haydn. Einer ersten 2-jährigen Anstellung als Regenschori bei den Karmelitern, folgten nach 1794 dreißig Jahre Wirken im Schottenstift. In dieser Zeit wuchs ein bedeutendes kirchenmusikalisches Oeuvre heran: 32 Messen, ein doppeltchöriges Requiem, 7 Te Deum, 30 Offertorien, 35 Gradualien sowie zahlreiche Chöre. Ab 1804 zum zweiten, 1824 nach dem Tode Salieris zum ersten Hofkapellmeister ernannt, aber ebenso die Erhebung in den Adelsstand, spiegeln die Gunst und Wertschätzung des kaiserlichen Hofes. Ein Schlaganfall, den er am 23. Februar 1833 bei der Leitung von Mozarts Requiem erlitt, setzte seinem reichen Schaffen ein plötzliches Ende. Hochgeehrt und geachtet starb am 24. Juni 1846 in Wien Joseph Eybler, der Träger eines der schönsten Empfehlungszeugnisse (auch für die Wiederbelebung seines Werks) aus der Feder W. A. Mozarts: „Ich Endesgefertigter bescheinige hiermit, daß ich Vorzeiger dieses, Herrn Joseph Eybler, als einen würdigen Schüler seines berühmten Meisters Albrechtsberger, als einen gründlichen

The compositions of Joseph Eybler are gradually emerging from under the shadow of the great classical composers; this is mainly due to the republishing of important instrumental works. Until very recently Eybler's name survived only in connection with Mozart's Requiem KV 626. Seeing Mozart's composition sketches in Fr. X. Süssmayr's possession may have induced Eybler to leave the work's completion — at first offered to him — to this “copupil” of his.

Eybler was born in 1765, son of a teacher and choir director in Schwechat near Vienna; at the age of six he entered the municipal seminary of Vienna, the school which earlier had given the brothers Joseph and Michael Haydn their education. This was followed by intensive studies with J. G. Albrechtsberger, who in 1793 was to certify in writing “. . . that after Mozart he was now the greatest musical genius Vienna possessed”. In 1782 a great fire in Schwechat destroyed the family's entire property. Joseph had to renounce his plan of studying law in favour of the less expensive study of music. He subsequently enjoyed the generous support of his teacher and friend Joseph Haydn. Two years employment with the Carmelites were followed, from 1794 onwards, by thirty years of activity in the Schottenstift monastery. These years saw the growth of an important opus of church music: 32 Masses, a Requiem for double choir, 7 Te Deum, 30 Offertories, 35 Graduals and numerous chorales. He enjoyed the favour and esteem of the Imperial Court, who in 1804 appointed him to the post of second Court Kapellmeister and in 1824, following Salieri's death, to that of first Court Kapellmeister, in addition to giving him a knighthood. A stroke suffered on the 23rd of February 1833 whilst conducting Mozart's Requiem put a sudden end to his abundant output. Joseph Eybler died in Vienna on the 24th of June 1846, highly honoured and regarded, and holder of one of the best recommendations (of equal validity for the revival of his works) ever written by W. A. Mozart: “I, the undersigned, hereby certify that I have found the bearer of this, Herrn Joseph Eybler, a worthy pupil of his Componisten, sowohl im Kammer- als Kirchenstyl gleich geschickten, in der Setzkunst ganz erfahrenen, auch vollkommenen Orgel- und Klavierspieler, kurz als einen jungen Musiker befunden habe, wo es nur zu bedauern ist, daß seinesgleichen so selten ist."

Neben den bis heute bekannten und in seiner Bedeutung (nicht zuletzt für den Spätstil Mozarts) noch kaum abschätzbaren Kammermusikwerken (7 Streichquartette, Streichtrio, 6 Streichquintette, Flötenquintett, 4 Klavier-/Violinsonaten, 2 Sonaten für 2 Violoncelli sowie Klaviertrio) sind — von den weit über hundert Orchestermenuetten und Deutschen Tänzen abgesehen — nur drei zyklische Orchesterwerke wieder bekannt geworden: die vorliegende Sinfonie in C-dur, eine weitere Sinfonie in D-dur und ein ebenfalls wieder ediertes Klarinettenkonzert. — Am 22. März 1789 beglückwünscht J. Haydn Eybler zur Aufführung einer Sinfonie. Ob dieser Hinweis für das Entstehungsjahr unserer C-dur-Sinfonie gelten darf, muß indessen offenbleiben.

Als Vorlage diente eine zeitgenössische Handschrift der Stimmen aus dem Prager Narodni Museum mit dem Siegel Kl. II - A. 3 / Nr. 46 und dem Titel: Sinfonia / in C / a / 2 Violini / 2 Oboe / Fagotto / 2 Corni / 2 Clarini / Timpani / 2 Viole / Basso / di G. Eybler. Die 15 Stimmensätze umfassende Abschrift sieht für die beiden Oboenpartien eine Alternativbesetzung mit 2 Klarinetten vor, die hier indessen unberücksichtigt blieb. Die in allen Stimmen deutlich gesetzte Dynamik konnte problemlos ergänzt werden, die spärlichen Phrasierungshinweise mußten dafür behutsam auf verwandte Passagen übertragen, im besonderen aber der heutigen Spieltechnik angepaßt werden. Mit Blick auf die dichten kontrapunktisch geführten Durchführungsteile der Ecksätze ist eine ausreichende Besetzung der zwei Viola-Parte ratsam. — Herzlichen Dank schulden die Herausgeber Herrn Willy Hess, Winterthur, für Rat und Hilfe bei der Aufbereitung und Korrektur an diesem Werk.

celebrated master Albrechtsberger, a thorough composer equally skilled in chamber music and church music, very experienced in composition, an accomplished organist and pianoforte player, in short a young musician such that it can only be regretted that the likes of him are so rare."

Besides those chamber music works still known today (7 string quartets, a string trio, 6 string quintets, a flute quintet, 4 piano/violin sonatas, 2 sonatas for 2 cellos and a piano trio) — their significance, not least for Mozart's later style, cannot be fully estimated yet —, and if we except more than a hundred menuets and German Dances for orchestra, only three cyclical works for orchestra have reappeared: the present Symphony in C major, another Symphony in D major, and a clarinet concerto, also republished. On the 22nd of March 1789 J. Haydn congratulates Eybler on the performance of a symphony. Does this give us the date of our Symphony? That question must remain open.

The source used for this text was a contemporary manuscript copy of the parts from the Prague Narodni Museum, seal Kl. II - A. 2 / Nr. 46, entitled Sinfonia / in C / a / 2 Violini / 2 Oboe / Fagotto / 2 Corni / 2 Clarini / Timpani / 2 Viole / Basso / di G. Eybler. This copy, containing 15 parts, provides for 2 clarinets as an alternative to the two oboe parts; this has however not been taken into account here. The dynamics, clearly marked in all parts, were easy to complete; the sparse phrasing indications, however, required careful adjusting in the similar passages and, especially, needed adapting to the instrumental techniques of today. In view of the close counterpoint in the development sections of the outer movements it is advisable to ensure sufficient appointment of the two viola parts. — The editors are very grateful to Willy Hess, Winterthur, for his advice and help in preparing this work's publication.

This musical score page contains measures 114 through 118 of a piece, likely from a ballet score. The instrumentation includes Oboe (Ob.), English Horn (Fg.), Cor Anglais (Cor.), Trombone (Tr.), Timpani (Timp.), Violins (Vl.), Violas (Va.), and Violoncello/Double Bass (Vcl. Cb.).

The score is written in 2/4 time. Measures 114-117 feature a gradual crescendo in the woodwinds and strings, with the English Horn and Trombone playing a descending line. The Violins and Violas play a rhythmic pattern of eighth notes. The Timpani plays a steady pulse. In measure 118, the music reaches a forte (f) dynamic, with the woodwinds and strings playing more active, melodic lines. The English Horn and Trombone continue their descending line, while the Violins and Violas play a more complex rhythmic pattern.
